

Over 50s Life Cover

Policy Summary

The guaranteed way to leave money for your loved ones when you die

keyfacts[®]

This document gives you a summary of National Friendly's Over 50s Life Cover so you can get an idea of whether it's right for you.

There's more detail in our Policy Conditions which you can ask us for a copy of at any time. If you take out a policy then we'll include a copy of the Policy Conditions in your welcome pack along with a reminder of your cover details in your Policy Schedule.

We've been around for over 150 years so we've got a long history of looking after people. We want to make sure your policy meets your needs both now and in the future.

What is Over 50s Life Cover?

Over 50s Life Cover is what's called a 'whole of life' policy. That means it will pay a sum of money, called a sum assured, when you die so long as you've kept up your payments. We'll refer to your sum assured as your payout.

You might choose this policy:

- to help pay towards the cost of your funeral or any outstanding debts
- to leave some money as a gift
- if you'd like peace of mind and are happy to make monthly payments for the rest of your life
- if you want cover but don't want to answer lots of medical questions

Key features of Over 50s Life Cover

- You could get full cover after just six months by answering two medical questions
- Your answers could also get you a better payout
- We'll pay double your payout if you die as a result of an accident

- You can choose to receive half your payout if you get a terminal illness diagnosis; the other half will be paid when you die
- Quick payout options

But here are some of the things you need to know:

- The plan pays out when you die and/or are diagnosed as terminally ill, it has no other value
- There's a period of time after the policy starts before you have full cover when we won't pay out unless you die from an accident
- Your payout is fixed when you take the policy out; over time the impact of inflation will reduce what your payout can buy
- If you choose to lower your payments, this will also reduce the payout amount
- If you miss a payment we'll let you know. If you miss three payments in a row, we'll close your plan and you won't get anything back
- You could live long enough to have paid in more than the policy will pay out

Additional benefits or services

Your policy gives you free access to our virtual GP service, Friendly GP.

The service includes:

- 24/7 GP telephone consultations, so you can talk about your symptoms at any time
- video consultations
- private prescriptions, though you will pay for these
- open referrals so you can be treated by any consultant

This is a valuable benefit as you have easy access to a doctor when you need medical help.

Who can take out Over 50s Life Cover

You can apply for a policy if you're:

- living in the UK (this does not include the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man) and either

- a non-smoker between the ages of 50 to 80 years old; or
- a smoker between the ages of 50 to 75 years old

How you can take out Over 50s Life Cover

- You can take out a policy yourself, by getting a quote then completing an application online.
- You can call to speak to one of our friendly sales team.
- You can buy a policy with the help of an adviser if you have one.

Choosing the right cover for you

For Over 50s Life Cover we ask if you want to answer two medical questions. You don't have to answer them if you don't want to, but you might get lower payments and/or a better payout if you do.

You'll be able to choose a payment that fits your budget, or you can choose the amount you want to leave behind and we'll tell you how much you'll need to pay.

It's important to remember that inflation will affect your payout. This means that as prices elsewhere will rise, a fixed payout will buy less as time goes on. Please think about this when choosing your payments and payout and review your cover from time to time.

We aren't able to give any financial advice or recommendations but you can ask us any questions on the policy. Or you can speak to an adviser if you want some advice.

Qualifying periods and when we'll pay out

Policies like this one have qualifying periods in which no payment is made for non-accidental deaths after the policy starts. Our standard qualifying period is two years. Answering the medical questions we ask could change this to just six months.

If you decide to buy Over 50s Life Cover, your qualifying period will be confirmed on your Policy Schedule.

The table below shows what is paid and when.

Where you die from a non-accidental cause during your qualifying period

Return of your payments only

Where you die from a non-accidental cause after your qualifying period

Your payout amount

Where you die from an accidental cause at any time and you haven't received a terminal illness payout

Double your payout amount

Where you receive a terminal illness diagnosis two years or more after taking out the policy

You can choose to get half of your payout immediately; the other half will be paid when you die. If you choose not to claim the terminal illness benefit, we will pay the full amount when you die.

If you die from an accidental cause and you've already claimed the terminal illness benefit, we will only pay the remaining amount of your payout.

Definitions

Here are our definitions of accidental and non-accidental death. You need to know this so you can understand when we can and can't pay your full payout. We have also defined Terminal Illness.

Accidental death

Where the cause of death has been confirmed as the result of an accident rather than an illness, disease or existing physical problem. The death must have occurred within 30 days of the accident and be confirmed on a death certificate or by any additional medical evidence we request.

Non-accidental death

Death which is not accidental death as defined above.

We will not consider the following to be causes of accidental death:

- Suicide or where death was caused by you deliberately hurting yourself
- Drinking too much alcohol, or misuse or overdose of illegal drugs, prescription or over-the-counter drugs, where any of these is a major factor in your death
- Death as a result of participation in: flying where you are not a fare-paying passenger, parachuting, skydiving, hang gliding, motor sport, powerboat racing, diving, mountaineering, or potholing
- Death in countries (or specific areas within countries) to which the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office (FCDO) advises against any travel, or to those where only essential travel is advised

Terminal Illness

A terminal illness (not resulting from an accident) is one that has progressed to a point where it cannot be cured, and in the opinion of your UK-based hospital consultant, it's expected to lead to death within 12 months.

Paying for your policy

To make sure you stay covered, you'll need to make regular payments which are decided at the start of your policy. These payments are called premiums.

We'll collect your payments by direct debit on a date that suits you. This will be confirmed in your Policy Schedule and on your Direct Debit Confirmation.

Your payments are due monthly but you can pay yearly if you'd prefer.

Once your policy has started we won't change the amount you need to pay.

How long you'll pay for your policy

You'll have to make the payments for your policy until you die.

Depending on how long you live, you could end up paying more than your payout. On your Policy Schedule we'll tell you what age you'll be when this will happen.

What will happen if you stop your payments

You'll need to keep up payments to make sure you're covered and your loved ones are protected. If you owe us three months' worth of payments, we'll have to close your policy.

If your policy is open but you haven't made all your payments and:

- you die of an accidental death in your qualifying period; or
- you die of any cause after your qualifying period;

we'll take the amount you owe out of the payout before it's paid.

Changes you can make to your policy

If you're worried about keeping up your payments, or about your level of cover, please get in touch. We have options to reduce your payments and therefore your cover, or to take out additional policies to increase your cover.

You can do either as long as you don't pay us in total less than the minimum or more than the maximum monthly payments available at that time.

Who the payout will go to

You can choose who will get the payout when you die. It's important to do this in advance by making specific arrangements.

If you don't choose who the money will go to, it will form part of what's known as your estate. That means it will be counted as one of the things you owned. Your estate could be subject to inheritance tax and/or delayed in being paid out to your loved ones. That's because wills, probate and letters of administration can take a while to process.

Making a nomination or putting your policy in trust are ways to make sure your loved ones can get the money a little quicker. You won't be able to do both of these, you'll have to choose one or the other.

If you are diagnosed with a terminal illness after your qualifying period, you can choose to get half of your payout. We will then pay the other half when you die.

Making a nomination

Because we're a friendly society, you can make a nomination. This means you can name a person or people to receive up to £5,000 of your payout. They'll just need to complete the claim form and send us the death certificate, and we will pay them as quickly as possible. If the payout is more than £5,000, we'll pay the rest in line with our death claims process which may take a little longer.

We'll let the person claiming know if we need to see other documents to claim the rest of the money.

£5,000 is the nomination limit across all policies you hold with National Friendly.

If you want to make a nomination, you'll need to complete and return a nomination form.

Putting your policy in trust

This will make sure that the payout goes to those you want to get the money and may have inheritance tax benefits. You'll need to check that any trust you set up allows you to choose the people you want to leave your money to.

If you want to put your policy in trust, you'll need to complete and return a trust form. You may want to get help from a solicitor to do this. Please contact us if you'd like us to send you a trust form.

What you need to know about tax

Based on our current understanding of tax rules your payout will be free from UK income tax and capital gains tax. The rules could change in the future and if they do, this could affect your payout.

If you want to learn more about your tax position you should get professional advice from an accountant, solicitor or financial adviser.

Claiming on your policy

When you die, the person making a claim should contact us as soon as possible. We understand it may be a difficult time for them so we'll guide them through the claims process to make it as straightforward as possible.

We'll explain what information we need to settle the claim and make the payout. We'll need to see proof of death and might ask for legal documents to support the claim. For claim amounts over £25,000, we'll need to see probate or letters of administration.

We may need to ask for additional information about the cause of your death so:

- We can check if it was accidental
- We can check that the medical answers you gave on your application were correct

You just need to make sure that whoever stands to benefit from this policy has access to documentation so they know to make a claim.

We will always try to pay out as quickly as possible.

If you want to cancel your policy

You can change your mind within 30 days of getting your welcome pack and we'll give you back any payments you've made. Just let us know if you decide it isn't right for you using the contact details on the back page.

You're also able to cancel at any time after 30 days but you won't get any of your payments back and your cover will end. Please contact us if this is what you'd like to do. We may ask you your reasons for cancelling because we don't want you to lose the money you've paid in.

But don't worry, there won't be any barriers to closing it if that's what you want.
